

Do Not Call registrations don't expire

A recent blog article on the Federal Trade Commission's website is a warning about a scam involving the Do Not Call registration.

Someone pretending to be from the FTC is sending out fake emails telling people that their Do Not Call registration is expiring. The emails use the FTC's logo and send people to a phony Do Not Call website to register their numbers again.

Don't buy it. Do Not Call registrations never expire. Once you add a number to the Do Not Call Registry, you don't need to register it again -- ever. We only remove your number when it's disconnected and reassigned, or if you ask us to remove it.

Not on the Registry yet? You can add your phone number at donotcall.gov or by calling 1-888-382-1222 from the phone you want to register. Learn more about the Do Not Call Registry in the FAQs.

Are you already on the Registry and still getting a lot of unwanted calls? Odds are, many of those calls are from scammers.

Check out the article on blocking unwanted calls to learn more about what you can do.

Remember, the Federal Trade Commission is a great resource to research fraud scams.

The National Do Not Call Registry

gives you a choice about whether to receive telemarketing calls

- You can register your home or mobile phone for free.
- After you register, other types of organizations may still call you, such as charities, political groups, debt collectors and surveys. To learn more, read their FAQs.
- If you received an unwanted call after your number was on the National Registry for 31 days, report it to the FTC.
